

Brighten the Corner Where You Are: Girls as Lovely Keepers At Home

By Shelley Hendry

- A portrait of loveliness
- A hearer of children's prayers
- A tucker in at night
- A fellow helper to the truth
- A student of wisdom
- A model of a cultivated life
- A supplier of cookies and milk
- A ready witness
- A pair of arms for hugs
- A shoulder to lean upon
- A over of all things good
- A washer of feet
- A strength in storms
- A breath of fresh air
- A remarkable example
- A striking difference to the world around
- A champion cheerleader
- A maker of cocoa, hot tea, and soup
- A getter of blankets
- A ready source of comfort
- A set of hands to pat and rub
- A reason to come (and stay) home
- An example to live up to
- An inspirer of noble deeds
- A repairer of breaches
- A lens for life
- A builder of fires
- A reminder of what matters most
- A soother of hurts
- A balm for pain
- A singer of happy songs
- A wellspring of inspiration
- A reader of stories
- A ready helping hand
- A warm lap
- A mother's right arm
- An encouraging smile
- A safe place in failure
- A strengthening presence
- A light in darkness
- An inspiring heroine
- A loving guide
- A brother's or sister's faithful confidante
- A set of shining eyes
- A lightener of loads
- A living epistle of Jesus
- A cheery presence
- A loving guide
- A tender corrector

Dedicated to my daughters Rebekah and Grace, and to the young girls of my generation . . . my life's work . . . my joy my heroines . . . my friends . . .
